

IN APALAN
There were men
And Sage's
You called night transparent
And saw a skeleton of stars.
When I had blood
A good to be in
You called the day opaque
And love chased entrails to the sun.
With tonight
In your arms
You christened daylight
And saw love shining thru my skull.

WHEN THE WORD IS LOVE
I see the word
With the word
For the distant star
In the dark
On the floor
In the background
The message here
Whenever the meaning
Come to light
But, on our tongue
There is
I see the word
Whenever we meet
And in the first day
In the night, when
I see the word
Whenever we meet

